

Show Boosted By Letter

Police might have prodded him a little bit but a Torrance youngster penned a letter to the local residents last week wishing them a good time at their annual Torrance Police Show Friday at the Palladium. Addressed to "the citizens of Torrance," the crumpled letter expressed the thanks of the youngsters for the many activities provided by the police. The department uses proceeds from the annual show to sponsor car clubs, the Torrance Auxiliary Police, and other youth groups.

The young writer also thanked the police for trips to the mountains, outings to sports events and other activities provided local youngsters by the department.

Tickets for the affair are priced at $3 and may be obtained at the new Torrance Police Station. Jerry Gray and his band will provide music

Supervisors Okay Vote On Amendment

On motion of Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, the board of supervisors last week voted to place a charter amendment separating the office of coroner from public administrator on the November ballot.

The amendment also requires that the coroner be a certified pathologist.

Supervisor Hahn pointed out that under the present charter the coroner is also the public administrator and public guardian although there is no relation between the duties of the three offices.

The charter does not require that the coroner have any medical training although his principal duty is to determine causes of deaths.

Dr. Lewis T. Bullock, chairman of the coroner's committee of the Los Angeles Medical Association, commented the board of supervisors for placing the charter amendment on the ballot.
